MCCA RESPONDS TO POLICE REFORM IMPASSE

Over the past year and a half, the MCCA has engaged in good faith with leaders in the House and Senate to enact police reform, and we are disappointed that these efforts did not result in a bipartisan compromise. The MCCA remains committed to ensuring reform is funded and realistic and we will continue to advocate for transparency, accountability, and meaningful change.

We're aware of forthcoming reform proposals and pledge to continue to work with all stakeholders and both sides of the aisle to build trust and legitimacy between law enforcement and the communities we serve.

###

The Major Cities Chiefs Association (MCCA) is a professional organization of police executives representing the largest cities in the United States and Canada. The MCCA provides a unique forum for urban chiefs, sheriffs and other law enforcement executives to share ideas, experiences and strategies. MCCA provides a collaborative forum for the advancement of public safety through innovation, research, policy development, government engagement, community outreach, and leadership development.
